Books of the Year

IN pursuance of its well-known policy of bringing out new books in every branch of school study where there is promise of improvement, the American Book Company has been very active in the past year. (See following page.) Of special importance is the by Messrs. Ripley and Tapper. Its advent marked the beginning of a new era in music instruction in public schools. Presenting the subject with new ideas and new methods, the system is not only a distinct step forward, but seems destined to revolutionize this branch of school study. Its success has been phenomenal. The Natural Course is now in successful use in a chain of large cities extending across the continent from Portland, Maine, to San Francisco, Cal., including both cities and hundreds of others, besides a great many towns and districts in all parts of the country.

Natural Course in Music

Eclectic School Readings

have been published to satisfy a demand for new and good supplementary reading in collateral branches in primary and grammar grades. The books already issued supplement the studies of natural history, American history, biography, mythology, etc. Written in charming style and embellished with a profusion of artistic suggestive illustrations, they are calculated to stimulate the imagination of children and to awaken and strengthen in them a desire for good literature. Other numbers are in preparation.

The Spencerian Vertical Copy-Books

teach children to write, not to draw. The arm movement properly taught as in these books produces vertical script forms easily, rapidly, and with a maximum of legibility. The copies are fully up to the well-known Spencerian standard of beauty, are marvels of simplicity, and are easily the best models yet produced to insure a good vertical handwriting.

In the Higher Branches

many volumes have been published embodying the latest and most approved ideas in the study and teaching of the Classics, Modern Languages, the Natural Sciences, Higher Mathematics, and English Literature. The authors are well known for their ability as instructors in the subjects on which they have written. The Company has also issued several

Books of Importance and Value to Teachers

With a list always unrivaled and now enriched by these later additions, the American Book Company is better equipped than ever to supply every reasonable demand in school-books, and will continue to furnish the newest and best books in greatest variety at lowest prices.

METHODS OF MIND-TRAINING, Concentrated Attention and Memory. By CATHARINE AIKEN. pp. 110. Ten Illustrations. 8vo, Cloth, $1.00.

No more helpful or fascinating book for teachers has ever been published. The simple methods outlined by Miss Aiken have been in use in her classes for many years and may be applied equally well in any school.

The extraordinary result of tests of the powers of attention and memory made by Dr. G. Stanley Hall, President in Clark University, in hundreds of schools in this country and in England, shows that Miss Aiken's school stands six per cent. better than the next best.

Every teacher will wish to own this book.

ELEMENTS OF GEOMETRY. By ANDREW W. PHILLIPS, Ph.D., and IRVING FISHER, Ph.D., Professors in Yale University. pp. 540. Illustrated. Crown 8vo, Half Leather, $1.75.

From Phillips-Loomis "Elements of Geometry."

Copyright, 1896, by HARPER & BROTHERS.

The leading feature in this work is the reproduction, by photography, of the magnificent collection of geometrical models recently built for Yale University. By this means the great problem of educating the student's imagination to a proper comprehension of figures of three dimensions is solved.

This book will be of the greatest interest to teachers.

Dealers are invited to notice that special inducements are offered on sample sets of Rolfe's Shakespeare, Rolfe's English Classics, and Harper's School Classics, all of which might be carried as regular stock with profit, since there is a constant demand for them for general reading as well as for school use.

THE
AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE FOR 1896.
[PUBLISHERS' PRICES.]

NOTICE.—In this Catalogue only prices made by publishers themselves are given—retail, if retail, in first column; “net” (wholesale), if “net,” in second column; where a “mailing” percentage is specified by the publisher, the “mailing price” is given in the retail column marked with an asterisk () in addition to the wholesale price. When price-columns are left blank, the publisher failed, on application, to furnish price. A double asterisk () in price-columns designates books forthcoming. New books, issued since the publication of the Catalogue of 1895, are designated by a single asterisk () before title.

In comparing prices or ordering at retail, private buyers should bear in mind that a percentage must be added to prices quoted at wholesale, to cover freight, handling, delivering, etc. Discounts on quantities vary on different lines, according to the kind of prices adopted by the respective publishers.

For subject classification (and for collective references to classic authors entered here under separate editors), see the second part of the Catalogue, following this main alphabet.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY.

A NEW ISSUE OF Chambers's Encyclopædia
 AT A POPULAR PRICE.

A Dictionary of Universal Knowledge, containing upwards of 30,000 articles; illustrated by more than 3500 engravings; over 11,000,000 words; and 17,560 columns of reading-matter.

The New Popular Edition. In 10 volumes. Imperial Octavo.

Cloth binding, $20.00, net; half leather binding, $25.00, net.

CHAMBERS'S ENCYCLOPÆDIA is in use as a book of reference wherever the English language is known. The first edition of this great work was completed in 1868. From this point for over twenty years a process of correction and division was continued from year to year, thus bringing the information down to the latest possible date.

But this process of revising and altering could not be carried on indefinitely. Many articles called for an entirely different treatment. New subjects of interest demanded admittance; while some have lost their claim to the prominence given them twenty-five years ago.

The publishers therefore have set up and electrotyped the work afresh for this new edition, in the preparation of which every line of the previous edition has been scrutinized, and the articles rewritten partially or entire, while new articles have been prepared to embrace all new subjects required by the progress of knowledge.

This edition is consequently a new encyclopædia comprising the latest information in the whole range of human knowledge, and it is offered to the public at a reduction of ONE-THIRD from the price of any previous editions. Furthermore, we have withdrawn our former trade edition from the market.

Specimen pages sent free on application to the Publishers.

Reduced One-Third in Price. Two Invaluable Works of Reference. For the Library, School, and Family.

LIPPINCOTT'S GAZETTEER OF THE WORLD.

LONGMANS' ENGLISH CLASSICS.

Edited by GEORGE RICE CARPENTER, A.B.

Professor of Rhetoric and English Composition in Columbia College.

This series is designed for use in secondary schools in accordance with the system of study recommended and outlined by the National Committee of Ten, and in direct preparation for the uniform entrance requirements in English, now adopted by the principal American colleges and universities.

Each volume contains full notes, introductions, bibliographies, and other explanatory and illustrative matter. 12mo, cloth.

"The series as a whole certainly marks . . . a clear advance beyond all its predecessors."—The Educational Review.

"We have seen no fitter school editions of these works, which are now included in the preparatory reading required by all the leading colleges of the country."—The Critic, New York.

"The Suggestions for Teachers are likely to be of great value, not only because many teachers need assistance in such work, but also because they must tend to introduce the uniformity of method that is hardly less valuable than the uniformity of the courses themselves."—The Educational Review.

"Teachers have learned to expect good work in 'Longmans' English Classics; they will find such confidence justified in recent numbers of the series. . . . The notes are copious and free from dulness and pedantry."—Journal of Pedagogy.

RICHTER'S CHEMISTRY.

Inorganic and Organic.

PROF. RICHTER'S methods of arrangement and teaching have proved their superiority by the large sale of his books throughout Europe, translations having been made in Russia, Holland, and Italy. The success attending the publication in this country could only have been attained for good books that have been found useful, practical, and thoroughly up to the times. Almost every teacher who has examined them has, without hesitation, given a testimonial of their value, and in the large number of schools and colleges in which they have been adopted as text-books they have stood the test of time and use.

RICHTER'S CHEMISTRIES are recommended at many prominent Schools and Colleges. Descriptive Circulars and Catalogues of high class books on Chemistry free upon application.
